New Sustainable Aviation Fuel (SAF) Program

In a proactive move towards more environment-friendly transport operations, cargo-partner now presents its customers with the option of utilizing sustainable aviation fuel for air freight shipments. cargo-partner handled its first SAF shipment from the Vienna airport in cooperation with Lufthansa in December 2022. Now, the offering has been expanded to provide customers with detailed reporting and certificates for flights to and from any location in the world.

Luca Ferrara elaborated: “An increasing number of customers are seeking to minimize the CO₂ footprint of their transports and obtain detailed reports on their environmental impacts. With our new SAF program, customers can reduce their CO₂ emissions and receive a verified certificate of the corresponding CO₂ reduction.” The program is available for any routing and on any airline, allowing cargo-partner customers to demonstrate environmental responsibility within the logistics industry.
